Termite Bait Station Benefits:

SKU Shown: 22099

- Greater safety for children and pets.
- Long-term approach to termite protection.
- No large holes drilled through walls, floors, or foundations.
- Chemicals used don't contaminate soil or surrounding water.
- More environmentally responsible than soil treatments that may require hundreds of gallons of pesticide.
- In many cases, the termite colony is completely eliminated. Studies indicate liquid treatments normally don't eliminate termite colonies.

Manual Auger Options

Soil Augers

Soil augers create consistent holes for installing popular termite bait stations. Offered in one-piece designs or modular configurations with compatible cross handles and extensions.

Regular Augers: loamy soils

Mud Augers: cohesive soils

Open-Face Augers: hard, compacted soils

Dutch Augers: heavily rooted soils

Combination Edelman Augers: clay and sandy soils

Concrete Port Covers

These 3 in. (7.62 cm) port covers are ideal for termite bait stations without a locking top. Secured by an expanding screw, the rubber O-ring locks the flush-mounted cap in place to help keep out moisture.

Compact Slide Hammer

400.96

Slide hammers are used with the Insertion Tool to shear roots during installation or inspection of Sentricon® termite bait stations.

Insertion Tool

400.67

Used with a slide hammer, this Insertion Tool assists with the initial installation of Sentricon® termite bait stations. It can also cut through roots that have grown inside these bait stations during inspection. The cylinder portion fits inside the bait station, allowing it to be driven into the borehole for a tight fit that helps promote termite activity.

Termite Bait Station Pliers

22099

Save time during the station inspection process with Termite Bait Station Pliers. These pliers are used to remove the top cap and bait from Sentricon® and Hex-Pro® termite bait stations.

36" Two-Piece Tile Probe

402.93

Two-piece tile probes are used to locate underground obstructions.

Station Puller

400.68

Station Pullers are used to extract termite bait stations from the ground.
